New MoMA head of publications

Christopher Hudson follows up Michael Maegraith

Jason Edward Kaufman

31 August 2005

The Museum of Modern Art has appointed Christopher Hudson as head of publications, succeeding Michael Maegraith, who retired last year after six years in the post. Mr Hudson has, for nearly 20 years, been the manager of publications for Getty Publications which issues about 50 books a year. MoMA publishes about 20 books a year, distributed by Distributed Art Publishers and Thames and Hudson.
